A MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

In Warner College of Natural Resources, we strive to provide a high-quality education that develops new generations of natural resources professionals, and many of our alumni go on to make tremendous impacts in the world.

We're proud of our programs and the expertise our world-class faculty bring to our classrooms.

But we face some difficult realities in ensuring students have access to this high-impact education. Higher education costs continue to rise, and now, with the impacts of the novel coronavirus, the need for scholarships has never been higher.

Your scholarships enable students who need additional support to take part in our educational programs, regardless of their economic circumstances. For that, and your enduring generosity, the College and those recipients are deeply in your debt.

Thank you for your continued support. We cannot do it without you.

JOHN P. HAYES, PH.D.
Dean, Warner College of Natural Resources
