

SCHOLARSHIPS IMPACT REPORT

FALL 2020 – SPRING 2021

“Being a scholarship recipient is a true confidence builder because it shows the care, support, and encouragement of those out there who believe in us students. Your contribution reminds me daily that I can and should continue down the path I have chosen.”

A MESSAGE FROM THE PROVOST

Student success has long been one of my top priorities. Your contribution allows students to thrive in new environments and provides access to opportunities they may not have thought possible. Scholarships and programs through the Office of the Provost offer a variety of paths and journeys our students can take while still advancing toward graduation. These types of opportunities have been shown to enhance graduation rates and provide students with experiences that lead to successful career paths. These experiences include education abroad, ROTC, service learning, research, and many other opportunities. As a University, we pride ourselves on the quality of our undergraduate and graduate students, many of whom may not have had access to education without additional financial assistance.

MARY PEDERSEN

Vice President

You empower the University to promote inclusive excellence to advance education, research, scholarship, and outreach for all who learn at Colorado State University. Thank you for your contributions and for supporting our students.
